CALL FOR PAPERS

It is our pleasure to launch the call for papers for the Third International Conference on Community Translation (ICCT 3), to be held in July 2023 at the Institute of Applied Linguistics, University of Warsaw, Poland. The conference is an initiative of the International Community Translation Research Group, and was preceded by the successful First International Conference on Community Translation, held at Western Sydney University in September 2014, and Second International Conference on Community Translation that took place at RMIT in Melbourne.

The third edition of the conference aims at discussing issues related to the most recent events and changes in the condition, status and application of community translation in different fields, including legal settings, healthcare and migration. We plan to identify those areas of research and practice that need further development, especially in the light of recent humanitarian crises. Indeed, these events highlighted the role and importance of good quality community translation, as well as the growing need to set standards and provide for quality assurance measures for community translation worldwide. We hope to reflect on such topics as well during ICCT 3. This edition of the conference is also aimed at bridging the gap between community translation and other disciplines, as well as promoting community translation in those locations where its status is under-recognised.

For individual presentations, we welcome proposals related to the conference topics (see: page 3), by both researchers and practitioners, including individuals, public institutions, companies, etc. Abstracts should be 250 words.

In addition, we would like to invite teams of up to 3 members to submit proposals for 2-hour-long workshops (see: page 2). Workshop proposals should be 500 words. They should include aims, a short plan of the workshop, method(s) of work and possible outcomes.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Both individual presentation proposals and workshop proposals will be uploaded via Oxford Abstracts which is available on the conference website and here:

<https://app.oxfordabstracts.com/stages/4978/submitter>

The extended deadline for submitting a proposal is November 30th, 2022.

We are pleased to announce that the conference will be held in the hybrid form. Streaming with interpretation between English and Polish will be provided. Do not hesitate to contact us if you require interpretation from or into another language. You can specify whether you would like to present online or in situ while submitting your abstract. The networking session that we plan, as well as workshops, will be held in the stationary mode only.

The networking session itself is aimed to bring the representatives of different fields together. The main goal of the session is to form new. research teams, discuss international standards and meet the representatives of the business, administrative and healthcare sector.

Should you have any question, please contact us at icct3warsaw@gmail.com
